👤 PROFILE

My journey into front-end development began at a hackathon organized by axmit. I participated in it together with a team of other guys. We were in the top three finalists and were invited to work.

At axmit I worked on many outsourced projects such as Zelos (<https://getzelos.com>) and Activatica (<https://activatica.org>).

After that, I got a job at inter://so as the main front-end developer in their startup project.

📁 EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Front-end Developer at axmit, Petrozavodsk

June 2019 — October 2020

At axmit I worked on many outsourcing projects, such as Zelos (<https://getzelos.com>) and Activatica (<https://activatica.org>). I was mostly involved in project support. I mean fixing bugs and adding new features.
